

NEBOSH National General Certificate in Occupational Health & Safety Level 3

If you are a manager, supervisor or employee making day to day decisions at work this training will give you a broad understanding of health and safety issues helping you to manage risk effectively, and safely. You will gain a valuable overview of managing health and safety in the correct way and you may find it further beneficial to undertake the NEBOSH National General Certificate as a first step in a career in health and safety.

Your business will benefit from having fully qualified employees who will be able to advise you on how your business can operate in the correct way to avoid prosecution, litigation, absence costs as well as loss of reputation. Your business will be recognised as an employer who is committed to health and safety. The NEBOSH General Certificate provides an assurance of safety helping you achieve recognised standards and potentially win new business.

The qualification is divided into three units, with each being assessed separately:

- Management of Health and Safety (NGC1)
- Controlling workplace hazards (GC2)
- Health and safety practical application (GC3)

This programme counts towards a Technical Membership of IOSH.
