Access to Physiotherapy, Radiography and other Health Professions

CORNWALL COLLEGE

Adult

An academic Level 3 course that will cover units of Human Biology and health related social sciences in preparation for progression to university degree courses in health professions, or provide entry requirements for applications to higher apprenticeships.
The course will combine these units with acadmic study skills to prepare students for university level study. It is run over three short days to allow students to be able to work part-time alongside their course.

Access to Nursing is an intensive and supportive programme designed to prepare adult learners for degree-level study in nursing and related healthcare professions.

Please Note: This course is only available to applicants who are 19+
